ULSTER SAVINGS BANK NOW SHOWCASING “DISCOVERY POSTER PROJECT” AT WALL STREET BRANCH

The public is invited to Ulster Savings Bank’s 280 Wall Street, Kingston branch to view the “Discovery Poster Legacy Project”, a collection of 31 posters created and designed by fourth-grade students throughout Ulster County. The exhibit will be on display at the Wall Street branch through Wednesday, March 31st.

The Project, sponsored by Ulster County Clerk Nina Postupack, was developed in conjunction with the 2009 Quadricentennial Celebration. Using their vivid imaginations and impressive creativity, students interpreted the Project theme, “Discovery”, and created their wonderful works of art.

“It’s an amazing display of the artistic talent we have in our community,” said B.A. Feeney, III, Ulster Savings Bank’s Wall Street Branch Manager.

Ulster Savings Bank continuously features artwork from many local artists at several of its branch locations throughout the Hudson Valley.

For more information about the exhibit, please contact B.A. Feeney III, Wall Street Branch Manager, at (845) 338-6060.
